Entered at the Post Office at Janesville Wis., as second-class matter.

"Bob" Ingersoll claims that Protestantism is a failure, is not substantiated by the fact that in 1500 it started with nobody, and in 1883 has a population of 408,000,000.

Cadet Whitaker who was dismissed from West Point on the charge of murdering his own ears, has established a military school at Charleston, South Carolina, for colored young men.

Dr. William H. Fox, a physician well known in southern Wisconsin, died at Fitchburg, Dane county, on Saturday evening. He was sixty-nine years old, and had been engaged in the practice of medicine in this state for forty years. The funeral will take place at Oregon to-morrow at 10:30.

Dr. Norvin Green, the president of the Western Union Telegraph company, in an article in the current number of the North American Review, on "The Government and the telegraph," gives the following figures of the miles of telegraph lines now in operation in the countries named:

	Miles.
In Great Britain	23,000
In Germany	11,000
In France	10,000
In Austria and Hungary	30,000
In the United States	180,000

He states that on the lines in the United States there are about 500,000 miles of wire, and that a government system of telegraphy would not cheapen the transmission of messages, nor improve the service.

The Milwaukee exposition closed on Saturday. The paid admissions this year were 97,036, and the receipts $28,182.70. The total receipts last year, including the restaurant, were $30,150. The exposition authorities, however, conducted the restaurant last year, and the losses by that venture amounted to $1,800. This year $400 profit was made on the restaurant. It is not known what will be done with the exposition building another year. It will be seen from the receipts this year, that financially, the exposition has not been a success—that is, no more than covering expenses. In many respects it was a splendid exhibition, and should have been more liberally patronized by the people in the interior of the state. The merchants in Milwaukee made more out of it than anyone else.

The woman's congress which adjourned in Chicago on Friday, was quite a representative body, and among the delegates were many very able women. But the session was barren of results. Some excellent papers were read on the hypocrisy of dressing in mourning, and some papers were presented to the congress which took the ground that women ought to be able to earn as much money as men. Not only were papers read on this subject, but the congress was strongly of the opinion that women should command and earn the same wages, salaries, and compensation, that men do. It would be a good thing if women could do this, but the experience everywhere has been that they can not do it. They ought to receive as large salaries as men do for teaching and for clerking, and doing many other things which they can do just as well as men do; but nearly all other employments they fall behind when competing with men. She is prohibited by the restrictions which her sex imposes upon her from entering into many callings in which men are successful. This may be a misfortune, but the restrictions can not be removed, and sensible women will not complain because they cannot compete with men in all the callings of life. The natural place for a woman is in the home, and take her from that and bring her into competition with the energy, perseverance, and the strength of man, and experience tells us that she will fail. The woman's congress should have discussed a more practical question.

We are in receipt of a copy of the Washington National Republican, which contains several columns of editorial stuff in laudation of Paul Vandervoort, late post commander of the grand army of the republic, and late chief clerk of the railway postal service, and denouncing Postmaster General Gresham for removing Vandervoort from the postal service. During the time he held the position in the service, he is said to have neglected his duties, and also to have wilfully disobeyed orders issued by the postoffice department, and when he had refused to discharge his duty or pay a decent regard to the orders he had received from General Gresham, he was discharged without ceremony. General Thomas S. Allen, of the Oskosh Northwestern, is an old veteran, and speaks in this fashion:

General Gresham was probably as good a soldier as Vandervoort and is fully as conscientious in the administration of his department as the head of the G. A. R., who makes a mistake if he supposes that he can make the G. A. R. for official positions combined with disobedience of orders and neglect of duty. Mr. Vandervoort had failed to give satisfaction to his superiors in the postal service, but owing to the circumstances and to show that the government was desirous of recognizing the old soldier, he was offered another position better suited to his capacity. This he indignantly spurned, and it is difficult to recognize what if any further claim he may have.

Mr. Vandervoort, and the Washington National Tribune, thinks he is a terribly persecuted man, and all sorts of threats are made against the postmaster general and everybody else who doesn't bend the knee to Vandervoort and his supporters. There has been altogether too much said about this matter. An ex-soldier is entitled to no more respect than anybody else if he hasn't earned respect, and Vandervoort's claim and his imperious demand do not speak in his praise.

THE POSTAL SYSTEM.

Abstract of the Annual Report of First Assistant Postmaster-General Patton.

A More General Establishment of the Free-Delivery System Recommended.

A Special Stamp for Important Letters and a Reduction of Local Postage Suggested—Estimates.

Hatton's Report.

SOME EXCELLENT SUGGESTIONS.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—According to the annual report of Frank Patton, the First Assistant Postmaster-General, the average amount of work performed far exceeded that of any previous year, while the complaints have been fewer. The whole number of offices June 30, 1883, was 47,865, an increase of 1,632. Pennsylvania, with 2,716 leads the States; New York second, with 3,053, and Ohio third, with 2,630. Lancaster County, Pa., had 153 offices, the largest in any county. The removals and suspensions numbered 316. The adjustment of the salaries of Presidential postmasters has advanced so far as to warrant the belief that for the first time in the history of the department the salaries will be equalized. In order to meet the urgent demands of the service for clerks in the post-offices, and at the same time keep within the appropriation, it was necessary to create a fund by making reductions in the salaries of clerks in one hundred and ninety-five offices. This fund was used to give relief at points where additional clerks were absolutely needed. Many clerks at separating offices are underpaid, and in some cases the postmasters were compelled to employ clerks at their own expense. The adjustment of the salaries of Presidential postmasters for the next year will involve about $4,000,000. The establishment of the carrier system is recommended for towns within short distances of each other, and in saving the use of the animal mail. This could be done by establishing a central office and discontinuing the others. In large cities the system of free-delivery is too confined at present, and has had the effect of lessening the revenues of the department through the competition of private companies. This may be remedied in the case of important letters by providing a special stamp which, if affixed to a letter in addition to the ordinary postage stamp, shall entitle the letter to immediate delivery up to ten o'clock at night. In view of the excess of receipts on postage on local letters, it is suggested that the local rate be recommended the postage on local letters can be reduced from two cents to one.

Great Excitement in Wall Street.

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Proceedings on the Stock Exchange Saturday were the most exciting known for many years. Northern Pacific preferred has for weeks been recklessly oversold, and as the transfer books were to close at two o'clock for the election it became necessary to settle accounts. Cash stock opened at 63, and with the increasing demand for delivery was pushed up to 73 1/2, with sales of regular at 64. Eight thousand shares were bought in under the rule for those who were unable to secure them otherwise; 32,000 changed hands in the regular way, and 15,000 were sold on a cash basis. Buyers paid at his bid and over $100,000 for 100 shares. Collis & Levy borrowed 1,500 shares in Philadelphia flat and dealt it out in Wall street at 5 to 9 1/2 per cent. for two days. Their Philadelphia representative chartered a special train and took the precious certificates to New York in one hundred minutes, at a cost of $1 per minute. The total transactions were 356,000 shares.

A Tribute to Louise.

QUINCY, Oct. 22.—The farewell ball given by the citizens to the Marquis of Lorne and Princess Louise Friday night was a brilliant affair. The floral display was the finest ever witnessed on this continent. It required a special cart to transport them. The display, comprising 150,000 roses, 100,000 carnations, 50,000 gerberas, 1,000 sprays of chrysanthemums, 2,000 strings of smilax, 3,000 yards of English laurel, and other flowers and foliage in proportion.

Four Boys Found a Blasting Cartridge.

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—John Burke, Michael Taylor and two brothers named William and John Cottingham, boys ranging from six to eight years, found a giant powder cartridge Sunday afternoon at Broadway and Madison streets, where blasting operations are in progress. They applied a match to the fuse. John Burke's skull was fractured, the Cottingham brothers eyes were so severely injured that they will probably lose their sight, and Michael Taylor was severely cut about the head and face. Burke will probably die.

Mr. Beecher's Welcome Home.

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Rev. Henry Ward Beecher occupied the pulpit in Plymouth Church Sunday morning. Fully 5,000 people went to hear him preach, but only 3,000 were able to gain admittance, streets where he represented the fullest capacity of the church. The platform was decorated with flowers, and Mr. Beecher looked as if his health had been benefited by his vacation.

The Parents Danced—The Children Died.

SOUTH CHARLESTON, O., Oct. 22.—Last Friday night Perry Stiles and wife, colored, who live one mile in the country, locked their three young children in the house, came to attend a dance at the town hall, and danced until three o'clock a. m., upon returning home they found the house on fire, and before the children could be rescued one of them died from suffocation by smoke. The others are very low, but will probably recover.

Sanderson is a constitutional "bear" in the wheat market, and has made it, it is said, over $50,000 on wheatalone, and this stock speculation has added to that about $100,000 more. THE NEW BISHOP.

Imposing Ceremonies Attending the Consecration of Assistant Bishop-Elect, Henry C. Potter.

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—The consecration of Rev. Dr. Henry C. Potter, as Assistant Bishop of the Diocese of New York, took place in Grace Church. The ceremonial was probably the most imposing that has ever taken place at the consecration of a Bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Church in this country. Forty Bishops and over 600 clergymen took part in the services. Admission to the church was by ticket, and there was scarcely an inch of standing room in the building shortly after the doors were thrown open. There was an early service in the morning, for the parishioners, at which communion was administered. The Bishop of Iowa officiated, assisted by A. B. Carpenter, D. D., F. Wilson, E. O. Phelps and M. L. Woolsey.

Visiting and resident members formed in procession in the building on Broadway, and shortly before eleven o'clock entered the church, preceded by the usher robed in white, and followed by the faculty and students of the General Theological Seminary. After these came the visiting clergy, several hundred in number. In their robes, and next walked the resident clergy. The Bishops who took part in the procession were Whipple, of Minnesota; Stevens, of Pennsylvania; Vail, of Kansas; Quinlan, of Ohio; Beckwith, of Georgia; Morris, of Oregon; Robertson, of Missouri, and almost all the Eastern Bishops.

A Thousand Fools Duped Every Day.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 22.—Warrants were issued for the arrest of B. J. Gardiner and Arthur L. Blue, on charges of using the mails for the purpose of defrauding others. Under the firm name of T. C. Gordon & Co. they addressed letters to all parts of the country, offering for sale a combined thermometer and barometer, which he promised to forward on receipt of twenty-eight cents. Their mail for nearly a month averaged more than a thousand letters a day, all of them presumably containing testimonials. Investigation showed that the instrument was in no case being forwarded according to orders. Gardiner was found to have fled. Blue recently left the city in a steamer to the United States of America, and is wanted in several other cities for different swindles. Letters are still being received for the firm at the rate of several hundred daily.

No Room for the Girls.

TORONTO, Oct. 22.—There is considerable discussion regarding the letter of Archbishop Lynch to the Dublin Poor-Law Guardians. The Archbishop writes that the Board asked him to take under his protection a number of girls from the Dublin Workhouse. He replied that Canada was very well supplied with help at present, and he would not advise the girls to come.

A Deadly Avalanche.

MEXICO, Oct. 22.—An avalanche at Asaro, Catamarca, overwhelmed six workmen. Five were killed.

DID HE KILL HER?

When Mr. Burns returns to St. Elmo. It may come sooner.

Another visit was made to the scene of the murder, and a careful survey seems to preclude the possibility of the girl having been killed in a buggy, and either thrown out or dragged away. She had evidently been kept a prisoner for some time, during all of Sunday, probably, and Saturday night—a deduction drawn from the fact that her stomach showed she had not eaten anything for at least fifteen hours preceding death and the mystery surrounding her whereabouts. A number of people now believe that Dukes came here, according to the agreement shown in Zora's letters to meet October 15, and, becoming jealous of Carpenter or of some one else, or for some other motive, killed her. Other persons think that she would make him clandestinely if he desired, and this fact strengthens the theory that her murderer either forced her to remain in hiding or secured her consent to not appear in public. News from the home of Dukes is anxiously looked for here.

Sunday developed nothing of importance, every one seeming willing to await the result of the microscopic examination of the lines, whip and buggy-bed, now in progress at Chicago. The excitement has by no means abated, however, and all day large crowds assembled on the street corners discussing the case.

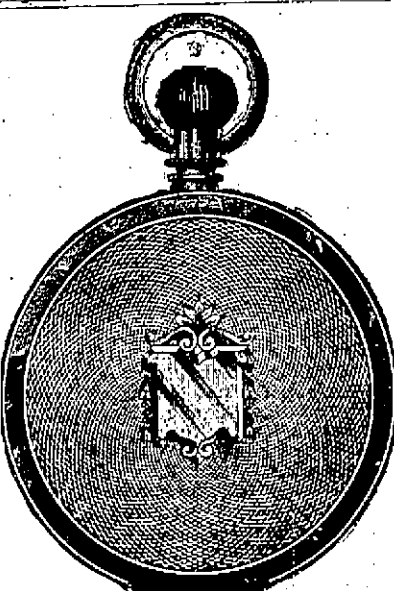

The inquest will be resumed to-day, and will, as heretofore, be held with closed doors. The friends of Carpenter—and they are still numerous—are naturally very indignant at this star-chamber method of procedure. They claim that, whatever the outcome is, Carpenter will not stand him the least chance. No one will know on what ground, and he will be under the same cloud of suspicion that now rests upon him. If he is held for trial he will not have a fair chance for defense, as neither he nor his attorneys will know the evidence brought up against him at the secret inquest.

J. M. Hubbard, Baptist pastor, said that when he visited Carpenter in the jail Saturday he found him in his usual cheerful frame of mind. He did not appear at all depressed, though he expressed himself as feeling anxious about his family. "To assurances of sympathy he replied: 'I am glad I have the sympathy of my friends, and I am also glad they believe me innocent, as I am.' This was the only reference he made to the charges against him.

The theory that Tom Dukes killed Zora Burns has been pretty effectually exploded, and suspicion no longer rests on him. He spent a few hours in town under the guardianship of Deputy-Sheriff Cunningham, who kept him so carefully secluded that his presence was not made known until this morning. Cunningham says he received a telegram from Dukes Friday morning that he was coming, and that the evening he met him at the depot. He recognized him by his having his arm in a sling. He was hungry and asked for a meal. After eating he had a talk with Cunningham, and gave him a clear and satisfactory account of his movements from Saturday to Monday. He claimed that on Sunday night he was in the city, and that he came to attend Zora Burns' funeral. He will return to-day with Mr. and Mrs. Burns.

St. Elmo, Ill., Oct. 22.—The remains of Zora Burns were followed to the grave Sunday by a large and sympathizing assemblage. Thomas Dukes, who was engaged to the ill-fated girl, was present at the funeral, and expressed much grief during the ceremonies. In conversation afterward he said he had been a great admirer of the deceased. Zora's brother was not here. Mr. and Mrs. Burns and Thomas Dukes left after the funeral for Lincoln. All the important letters in this matter are in the hands of the Sheriff of Logan County.

Briefs.
—Coal fires are very comfortable just now.
—Marshal Hogan arrested two drunks this morning.
—Miss Ella A. Cross, of Elgin, Illinois, is in the city, visiting friends.
—The exterior wood-work of All Souls church is receiving a "long felt want,"—a coat of paint.
—The "French Spy" is declared off tonight. The company will reorganize somewhere else and begin anew.

—A new counter with increased business facilities has been added to the fixtures of the money order department of the Janesville postoffice.

—The first snow of the season, in the form of a few feathery, short-lived flakes, made its appearance yesterday. No poetry solicited on the subject.

—Messrs. Wilcox & Lee, carpenters and builders, this morning commenced the building of a new residence for Mr. Paul Iverson on Academy street, fourth ward, on the site of the old Bewick house.

—Mr. Thomas Fox, of Turtle, who was wounded in his left hand seven weeks ago, by the accidental discharge of a revolver, has been obliged to lose the first finger of his hand. A portion of the ball lodged in the finger. —Beloit Free Press.

—Mr. H. D. McKinney, of this city, recently attended a sale of young horses in Racine, and made several purchases as follows: Viola, chestnut mare, $150; two yearling colts, one at $185 and the other at $115; Pocahontas Girl, bay mare, $155; Bill Henry, brown colt, $100.

—A team of horses, attached to a heavy wagon, which had been left standing unattended on West Milwaukee street this afternoon, started for a lively run but were stopped before they had succeeded in getting under headway. No damage. Had they succeeded in getting underway they would have made it lively for the streets were full of vehicles.

—The hot water wagon of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Smith, from which they are dispensing excellent lunches to our citizens for the past few days, is quite an institution, and we are glad to see the "bakery" meeting with such deserved success. Their hot waffles are good—try them—3 for 5 cents.

—This morning Marshal Hogan received a telegraph dispatch from the chief of police at Elgin, giving a description of a man who was engaged in a stabbing affray in that city, and stating that the man was in this city. The marshal had no difficulty in finding him and he was soon placed in the county jail to await the arrival of the officer from Elgin.

—The "celebrated case" of Wilcox against Bates, which has occupied the attention of the courts more or less for the past twenty years, has finally reached an end. On Saturday afternoon at four o'clock, Mr. C. T. Wilcox paid into the hands of Hon. John Winans, attorney for the defendant, the sum of $5,935.42, the amount of the judgment.

—In our issue of September 1st, we made mention of the healthiest field of corn we had seen this season, which belonged to Mr. Mark Honeysett, of the town of Plymouth. This lot of corn we are informed yielded 108 bushels per acre. Who in Rock county can make a better report. Mr. Honeysett is one of the best farmers in every respect that lives in the northwest.—Evansville Review.

—On Saturday afternoon, little Corry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Coffey, was quite badly scalded. The little girl was eating dinner, and by some means she overturned the tea-pot, which was upon the table. The hot tea was spilled upon her left leg, scalding it in a very severe manner, in fact the skin was all taken off from the knee to the ankle. The little girl suffered considerable pain, but was resting all right to-day.

—The Dodgeville Chronicle, in noticing the case of Evans against Vial, a libel suit, says: "The case was conducted by Mr. Fethers, of Janesville, for the plaintiff, and by ex-Attorney General, Wilson, ex-Judge Cothran and Mr. McArthur for the defense. Mr. Fethers' argument of the case was one of the finest and most eloquent ever made before an Iowa county jury. A motion for a new trial was made and overruled, and the case may yet find its way to the supreme court."

—The Madison Democrat gives the following first class receipt for making a scandal: Take a grain of falsehood, a handful of roundabout, the same quantity of nimbletongue, a sprig of backbite, a teaspoonful of don't-you-tell-it, six drops of malice, and a few drachms of envy. Add a little discontent and jealousy, and strain through a bag of misconstruction, cork it up in a bottle of malevolence, and hand it out on a skein of street yarn. Keep it in a hot atmosphere, shake it occasionally, for a few days, and it will be fit for use.

—The switch engine and the engine attached to the south bound way freight from Fort Howard, collided at the head of West Milwaukee street at eight o'clock on Saturday evening, doing considerable damage to both engines. The switch engine being the lightest, of course fared worse, and was thrown from the track. But it appears that the freight train was running onto a side track, when the switch engine came out of the yard on the same track, and at such a rate of speed that it was impossible to avoid the collision. Mr. George Pritchard was the engineer in charge of the freight engine, and Mr. J. Walker was in charge of the switch engine.

The Wife of an Ambassador.
I recently put the following question to the daughter of one of our merchant princes at a presidential levee. "My dear, I was told before I visited America, that your countrywomen were not to be trusted. I find it quite the contrary. Take your own for instance. I have used Saxonnet for years and I prefer it to any other," was the response. Reader, follow her example!

Nothing like Down's Elixir to relieve children with whooping-cough. Sold by Stearns & Baker.

Silverware.
It appears to be a fact that the women folks of Rockford cannot tell a good article of silver plated ware from bad, when they have a first class plating establishment in their own city. The Rockford Gazette complains that peddlers are reaping a harvest in that city by "calling at the residences when the man of the house is away, and tell the ladies that the goods are extra silver plated, that the regular price is $18, but owing to the fact that they have no taxes and rent to pay, they can dispose of their ware for just a few dollars off." In a number of cases they have succeeded in making sales, and the parties purchasing have subsequently discovered that the articles which they bought were washed with a very thin coating of silver, and not plated at all.

Traveling vendors of this class of goods meet with poor success in this locality, as our women folks are well posted and know a good article when they see it. And besides this they also know that our dealers keep all first class goods of this kind from whom they can always purchase at reasonable prices. The Rockford papers come to the Rescue of those who have been seduced by appealing to the common council to "increase the cost of the license, and make it so high that the average tramp could not afford to pay for one, then we should be rid of this class. It's an injury to the city to have these peddlers about, as they injure the trade, to a certain extent, of the old established business houses. What we want is local protection."

THE PUBLIC DOMAIN.
SOME VERY INTERESTING STATISTICS.

The Sales of the Public Land of the United States during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1893, aggregated 10,037,052 Acres—How They are Distributed.

There have been published of late sundry guesses relative to the amount of land disposed of by the Government Land Office during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1893, which have differed widely in amount and detail. The worthlessness of these guesses may be learned from the fact that the last of the reports from the various subordinate offices was received on the 27th of August. On that day an unofficial summary of the returns was made, from which the following interesting items are gleaned:

Exclusive of Indian lands the amount of public domain disposed of last year was 10,037,052 acres, against less than 10,000,000 acres in 1892 and 1891. The amount disposed of last year exceeds the aggregate for the four years 1887-92. Of the amount disposed of last year, 3,717,791 acres were taken under the Homestead act, against 6,248,045 the previous year, and 3,161,332 acres were taken under the Timber-Culture act, against 2,568,684 acres in 1892. The rest was disposed of by cash sales, public auction, pre-emption entry, under Desert-Land act, Mineral Land act, etc. As compared with the previous year there is an increase of lands disposed of in Arizona, Arkansas, California, Dakota, Florida, Idaho, Kansas, Minnesota, Mississippi, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, New Mexico, Oregon, Utah, Washington Territory, Wisconsin and Wyoming. Until this past year Kansas had been disposing of a few acres larger than in 1892, and much in excess of the amounts disposed of in the two intermediate years. In Dakota for three years the area disposed of has almost doubled annually. California shows a very large increase for the year, and Wisconsin shows a gain of nearly eight thousand acres. While there is a decrease in several Southern States, there is a very large increase in Mississippi. In Montana there is a gain of two and one-half fold, in Arizona the same, and in Wyoming threefold. In Colorado the area increased rapidly for some years. Idaho shows a falling off from previous years. New Mexico shows a gain of more than 100 per cent. The following table shows the amount of public land disposed of last year in several of the States and Territories:

Dakota.....	501,328
Idaho.....	438,123
Minnesota.....	401,213
Montana.....	423,723
Nebraska.....	448,223
California.....	423,723
Washington.....	331,123
Mississippi.....	311,123

For the rest of the States and Territories the figures run down to 6,248 acres in Iowa; 163 in Ohio, 53 in Indiana, and one acre, area not stated, in Illinois.

LESS DOG THAN DOLL.
Pugs started in style by the Baltimore Girls, Who Thus Appear Fashionable.

The Baltimore girls are an independent species, who will not submit to be hampered, even by fashion, too much. If they must wear a dog, as they do a bouffant, they will not consent to allow Dame Fashion to dictate the shape, or size, or style of dog to be worn. Hence it is that a close observer in the park on a fair afternoon will see that every lady who makes a pretension to style wears a different make of dog—a dog with some feature or characteristic different from any other canine on the drive. This variety is easily secured. We are about to give a local secret away, because, as journalists, it is our duty to tell the truth and furnish information upon all subjects. The secret of this admirable variety is that every lady makes her own dog. She decides for herself the style of dog she will adopt. She then buys the shaggy pug, the shaggy spaniel, or the shaggy pointer, and she then she cuts out her canine pet, stuffs it with saw cotton, sews on its tail and ears, and a couple of glass marbles in for eyes, and there she has a dog which she can hold in the most graceful attitude, suited precisely in size and shape to her favorite breed, and in color harmonizing beautifully with her complexion and dress. Some ultra fashionable ladies have a number of these pud
